GIANTS LACK GINGER.

New York's Baseball Team Again Play Listlessly.

Cest. Deyle's Presence Needed at Besten to Shake 'Em Up.

to Defeat Them Saturday.

"The Evening World's" Special Correspondent with the Team.)

BOSTON, June 24.—For the next ten lays New York's exponents of the Nagame will go up against about as

This morning Capt. Doyle's men are eighth place, Saturday's defeat at he hands of the Beancaters having pushed them a couple of notches to-wards the position which Louisville is so armly holding down.

At this stage of the game, however eighth place is not so bad, considering that less than half a dozen games separ-ate them and the leaders. The coming fortnight may see some quick shifting in positions, and the question now to be considered is "Where will we be at' re and Brooklyn?

On form the chances look decidedly fattering than they did some days not be strengthened, they, on the at least three of the big four, wh ospital list. Without the services Meekin, Doyle, Rusie and Davis, the oys have been keeping at the gamely and have done exceedingly well, What will they do with the big fellows

From Saturday's game it seems though a grave mistake had been made when Capt. Doyle was left home. Alhe would not have been able to lay, Jack would have hustled his boys g, and put life into them, which nem in a strange city as they did here trem in a strange city as they did here on Saturday, and it is no exaggeration to say that at least half of the big growd was pulling for them. Every play that had the least semblance of brilliancy was warmly applauded, from the very jump. For some reason or there is the rank and file of the New York players played in a far more dispirited manner than they have in weeks. The snap and ginger which Capt. Doyle had imbued in them had cozed out of their finger tips. When men were on bases, the rest of the team slood around with an "in God We Trust" expression that was sad to behold.

"The Evening World" does not wish to detract one bit from the praise that rightly belongs to the team for their magnificent work of the past few days in the face of such trying circumstances, but this thing of being beaten before they get into a game, which was the face on Saturday, is not what New York fans want. Better a team of second rate up-hill fighters, than a team of brilliant quitters.

"Shorty" Fuller again played a star

Fore tans want. Hetter a team of second rate up-hill fighters, than a team of brilliant quitters.
"Shorty" Fuller again played a star part in losing another game. It was also eror in the first inning that allowed a pair of Boston aces to ramble home. According to "Dad" Clarke, several of the diameter of the Gants were "Thinking of Home and Mother." Why, oh why, didn't President Freedman allow that gold brick deal with Philadelphia go through?

Baron Wilhelm Schriver was also "dreaming of home and mother" in the game, or else he was so intent on getting one over the left-field fence that he forgot to get in the game. When the game was started the Baron used his fingers to indicate what he wanted Clarke to pitch. Early in the proceedings "Bill" got mixed up. "Dad" loked for the signal, but the Baron was gazing fondly at the left-field fence and alternately giving one signal and another.

After watching a few seconds "Dad" put one in at random, but it was opposite to what "Bill" wanted. There was a consultation, and as the opposing layers had faillen to Schriver's signals the to what "Bill" wanted. There was the opposing players had fallen to Schriver's signals change was made and a code of foot signals was arranged. "Now, don't forget," whispered Bill, as a parting interest, whispered Bill, as a parting in the majestra of the majestra (Ladies'), in the maje foot in a certain position send in a curv and my right foot indicates a different aind of a ball." aind of a ball."

Schriver wandered back to his position and began gazing at the left-field fence. "Dad" got ready to deliver the ball, but when he looked for the signal "Bill was signing with both feet for opposite curves, and his fingers were closing and opening idly, in accordance with the other set of signals.
"Do it with your eyes," howled "Dad." "They're too small," absently answered Bill.

cClarke then got mad, and talked to Schriver, after which Bill quit looking at the left-field fence and forgo: all about home runs.
